The Chamber is still looking for an executive secretary. An ad elsewhere in this paper gives more information to interested persons.

The Board of Directors decided the next project would be a promotion honoring the Golden Anniversary of the fire department. Suggested features were decorations of store windows in a Golden Anniversary theme, and the donning of fire hats by store clerks for the Anniversary days.

Fire Destroys Garage At Loon Lake

The garage at the home of Laurence Elsey, on the north shore of Loon Lake, was virtually destroyed by fire Sunday, June 9.

Firemen were called to the scene at about 2:30 p.m., and found the garage blazing. Edgar Simonsen, Fire Chief, estimated the damage at about $3,500, including about $800 worth of equipment and furniture stored in the garage.

Firemen answered two simultaneous calls at 9:30 p.m. Saturday night, June 8. One was to the Joe Geddes home behind the Four Aces tavern, where the wind storm had crossed electric wires, producing a 220 circuit through the home's wiring and causing electrical appliances to blow out. The smell of burning rubber as appliances short circuited caused the family to call the fire department. No fire resulted.

At the same time, the firemen were called to Bluff Lake, where a rubbish dump was burning.

In May, the Fire Department answered nine fire calls, received 29 telephone calls and had 78 radio transmissions.

Fire calls were on May 1, to the George Hawkins home; on May 9, at 2 p.m., to the Howard Smith subdivision for a slough fire; on May 11, at 4:50 p.m., to a car fire on Route 173; on May 17, at 12:35 a.m., to Nelson Road for a fire in a car; on May 18, at 10:10 p.m., to a car fire at the Four Aces; on May 23, at 2:40 p.m., the rear tires of a truck on Route 173 were afire after the driver drove on a flat tire; on May 24, at 3:35 p.m., a trash fire at Cox's Corners and Route 173; and on May 25, at 8:05 p.m., called to the A & W Root where cartons were on fire.

Paddock Lake Dedicates New Flagpole

Paddock Lake, Wis., which officially became a village three years ago, held its first Memorial Day services this year on May 30 with the dedication of the new village flagpole and the raising of a rather unusual flag.

The flag is one that once flew over the Nation's capitol at Washington, D. C. It was presented to Village President Donald Klapper by Congressman Henry Schadeberg of Wisconsin.

Paddock Lake became a village three years ago. The population at that time was 912. Now it's over 1,000 and growing.

Trustees of the village are Lawrence Beck, Ausie Edwards, Robert Hoffman, Anthony Palumbo, Ronald Radonski and William Slippek. Village Clerk is Mrs. Robert Paddock, treasurer W. A. Remington, Assessor Robert Baysinger, Municipal Justice Carson Wilkinson, Chief of Police Phillip Dunek, Building Inspector Dorwyn Greenstreet, Health Officer Dr. Robert Smick and village attorney V. J. Lucarelli.

Guest speaker for the Memorial Day ceremonies was Dr. Robert Spitzer.

The special flag, says village president Donald Klapper, will only be flown on special occasions. Another flag will serve for daily use.

Dies After Boat Tips

Theodore S. Cielon, 47 years old, of 1725 N. Long Ave., Chicago, died at about 3 p.m. Sunday, June 9, of a heart attack after swimming to shore when the boat in which he was riding capsized at Loon Lake.

Mr. Cielon, his wife and daughter, and a friend were fishing when waves from a passing boat capsized their boat. All of the occupants of the boat managed to reach shore, but Mr. Cielon, who had been under treatment for a heart condition for several years, suffered a heart attack, due to the exertion. A local doctor and the Antioch Rescue Squad aided him but were unable to save him.

Mr. Cielon's body was taken to the Strang Funeral Home in Antioch, where an inquiry was held. He was then removed to a funeral home in Chicago, where services were held Wednesday.

Mrs. Kehoe was accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Goetz, at the time of her collapse. Her husband, Martin, was at Murrie's Gas Station getting gas for his car. Mrs. Kehoe and Mrs. Goetz had decided to walk to Lasco's Greenhouse.

Death was believed to be due to a heart attack or a stroke. The Kehoes had been married 46 years.

Mrs. Williams Indicted For Murder

Mrs. Bernice Williams, 34, of Rural McHenry, former employee of the Antioch Laundryette, has been indicted for murder in the slaying of her husband, Harold. A trial date will be announced when she is arraigned in McHenry County Circuit Court this Friday.

Mrs. Williams confessed the shooting of her husband after his body was found in his car on Barreville road near McHenry. He had been shot 11 times with a .22 caliber rifle found on the back seat. Mrs. Williams told police she had shot her husband earlier in the kitchen of their home, then put his body in the car and driven it to the spot where it was found.

Mrs. Williams is the mother of two children, Judy, 14, and Jerry, 9. She told police her husband had been drinking heavily and she couldn't stand it any more.

Phone Calls Minus Wires

There will be something "new in the air" in Lake County next week when a new communications skyway goes into service between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Hundreds of long distance calls will course through the giant antennas clustered on the 350-foot tower recently erected on Route 132 just south of Lindenhurst, according to R. C. Miller, Illinois Bell Telephone Company manager.

The Lindenhurst tower and a 1,300 square foot equipment building beside it are one of three relay installations built by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's Long Lines Department along the 90-mile radio route. The new link will provide facilities for increased long distance calling between this area and other parts of the nation. At Chicago and Milwaukee the system will connect with other Bell System communications routes.

County Board Turns Thumbs Down On Zoning Amendment

The recommendation of the Zoning Board to the County Board of Supervisors passed unanimously at the June 10 meeting of the board, turned thumbs down on the proposed amendment to the county Zoning Ordinance.

The Zoning Board, in a lengthy recommendation, stated that the amendment is not ready for final passage in its present form. They recommended that it be referred to the Zoning Committee of the Board of Supervisors for review and redrafting.

The Zoning Board listed several objections to the proposed amendment, to help in its redrafting.

1. The amendment should have been reviewed by legal counsel before being submitted for public hearing.

2. The Board stated, "We strongly urge that no changes in the zoning map, now in force as part of the current Zoning Ordinance, be proposed when the amendment is redrafted and resubmitted. We suggest that, before any changes in the map are proposed or made, the text of the amendment be finalized, after public hearings have been held in the Court House, then, after the language of the text has been agreed on, hearings on proposed changes in the zoning map can be held in each township. Wherever possible, the zones on the new map should correspond as closely as possible to the current zoning map, in any event, no changes in either the text or the map should be made without further public hearings."

3. The recommendation went on to state that persons who have made plans for their land, relying on present zoning classifications, should be protected from change whenever possible. Too many non-conforming uses, they stated, would be created by the proposed amendment.

4. The proposed amendment was actually an entirely new ordinance, the Zoning Board said. They felt that radical departure from the present ordinance is not needed or desirable.

5. The proposed amendment was found to be too wordy, too detailed and unnecessarily complex.

6. The proposed Agricultural Zone and the many restrictions on agricultural land uses in the proposed ordinance are probably illegal.

7. A greater variety of home occupations should be permitted.

8. The minimum lot size for single-family dwellings where community sewer and water are available should be reduced.

9. The proposed industrial standards would be too difficult to apply. The committee recommended protection from nuisance, noise, etc., be achieved through regulatory ordinances.

10. The long list of uses permitted in each district is unnecessary and dangerous.

11. Rezoning should not be necessary for uses customarily incidental to property use.

12. Procedures should be designed to render petitioners due process of law with a minimum of time and expense.

The recommendation stated that while land use planning was necessary, government regulation should be kept to the minimum necessary for the public health, safety and welfare.

June 14 Is Flag Day

June 14 is Flag Day. Probably a lot of people will forget to display our country's flag on this day. Probably a good many won't even realize it is Flag Day. It's not a day off from work, so it's often forgotten by many.

Because some forget formal observance of Flag Day doesn't mean their patriotism is any less deep than that of those more efficient and well-organized individuals who never forget such matters. Many of our adversaries have discovered, to their sorrow, the solidarity of the bickering, critical individuals of our nation in times of national crisis.

There are few of us so sophisticated that we don't feel a spine-tingling thrill when our nation's flag is raised to the majestic strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner". Even the hurrying shopper feels a moment of quiet pride at the sight of the mass display of our flag on business streets by stores and business houses.

Our flag is the proud symbol of our national unity. Beneath all the ballyhoo of commercialism, the lamenting over moral depravity and teen-age delinquency, the political pulling and hauling, the antagonism between races, nationalities, creeds, and widely-separated geographical sections of our broad land, is the inner hard core of our pride in America, symbolized by our flag and felt by every American, from the school child to the older nearing his last quiet days.

Stop Reckless Drivers

A couple of young drag racers were fined in magistrate's court last week. The fines were heavy enough to hurt, and maybe they'll serve as a deterrent.

Anyone caught drag racing should be fined accordingly, for their own protection as well as other peoples. Even though it may be a first offense, speeders are well aware that it's against the law to speed. If heavy fines are promptly levied against all offenders, word will soon get around that Antioch is not the place to go for Martrac racing, or for other irresponsible driving.

We do drivers no favor, whether they're teenagers or older, when we let them off with a warning just because no one was hurt this time. Next time may be too late.

If paying a heavy fine would work a real hardship on parents of under-age drivers, let the youngsters work it out in jobs that need doing around the town. Maybe this is illegal, but it's been done other places, and there are few who wouldn't agree to it.

MY OLE GRANDPAPPY USED TO SAY!

By the Rev. Fr. Edmond E. Hood

Wanted: A man who is as lenient to his neighbors' faults as he is to his own.

Many a man can be found standing on his brother's neck, while he claims to be looking up far into the sky watching for the Lord to come.

Many a man will find himself condemned in the judgment, by being measured by his own yardstick.

Don't be guided by outward looks. There are many people who are willing to give the devil any room in the house except the front one!

Courthouse Notebook

BY LOU DUKIN

A funny thing happened while having lunch the other day at the Parkway with Bill Hartnett, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee.

The Chicago Cubs won a ball game from the Giants and moved into first place. Hartnett ventured the opinion, "If the Cubs can do it why not the Democrats in Lake County?"

A strange opinion for a Democrat to hold in this rock-ribbed GOP county and yet as the man says, "If the Cubs, why not the Democrats?"

Hartnett intimated that the recent turnout of golfers at the Democratic golf outing has inspired him to seek other means of boosting morale and spirit among Democratic voters in the area with the hope that he may uncover a potent candidate who can break the GOP monopoly of county offices.

Re-election of Circuit Judge Philip W. Yager in 1964 to a full term could mean a great deal to Democratic chances in the future.

The tax bills are out, of course, and while increases were minor in most areas of the county there is still considerable grumbling.

The grumbling has developed in many areas where taxpayers have been placed in the wrong tax areas resulting in a drop in revenue in some districts and complaints from the property owners that the rate in the district in which they have been improperly placed are higher than their own areas.

Perhaps it only seems that way, but do you get the impression that the present session of the Illinois legislature is toying rather extensively with personal rights and freedoms?

The Sunday closing bill is one instance where legislators are going pretty far afield in telling us who can and who cannot work on Sundays.

The bounds of logic are under going considerable stress when our state senators and state representatives can say that bartenders, restaurant workers, golf pros and bait shop operators can work on Sunday, but shoe salesmen, auto salesmen, and paint peddlers have to take the day off whether they want to or not.

Certainly, merchants, particularly in downtown areas, are being hurt by the seven day a week operations, but it seems to us that our lawmakers are going far beyond their jurisdiction to provide protection for these commercial enterprises.

The religious argument being advanced in support of this legislation is as phony as the argument that an increase in the state's take from horse track wagering will result in a substantial drop in betting at the tracks.

The majority of the horse players aren't that aware of what a payoff on a winner should be. His only concern is an occasional trip to the cashier's window so he can make another trek to the seller's window.

The wire tap bill has considerable merit when viewed strictly from the law enforcement position, but it puts an awfully big chunk in the protection of privacy guaranteed by the U. S. Constitution.

Admittedly the courts have been leaning over backwards in recent years in protecting the rights of the accused, many of whom are known professional criminals, but to threaten the rights of all in hopes of catching a few seems too drastic.

It might be better if the Bar Association and the law enforcement agencies devoted their efforts to getting legislation which would limit the number of continuances which can be granted a defendant and make it mandatory on both the state and the defense that a case come to trial within a definite period of time.

A boy, a girl, two hearts as one. The month of weddings has now begun. Her starry eyes and his proud smile. Will meet and quiver at the church aisle. Tears shed by Mom will be wiped dry. By Dad who "is too big to cry".

A preacher, a prayer, and a band of gold. For these two a life of bliss will unfold.

Happiness, sorrow or strife to come. They face unafraid, when two hearts are one.

TIE LATEST REPORT: Jack and Myrtle Sampayo are back from their two month European trip just in time to boost the final weekend in the Antioch News Mixed Doubles Tournament. Hurry, hurry, there's still time for you and Pop to capture that first place (what a Father's day present that would make) . . . Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ferris were the honored guests (and surprised too) at a party given for them last Saturday night by the whole trailer park. The occasion was their Golden Wedding Anniversary, and those folks in Ferris' trailer park really know how to celebrate one . . . BEHIND THE PRESS: court calendars will be heard, of course, but if you eliminate dozens and dozens of continuances at every court session and dispose of some of the cases the backlog would be reduced considerably.

Pearl Kapell ("Chief") to those of us who are indebted once each week to this sheet has been working so hard on this Mixed Doubles Tournament that we have nicknamed her the "Little Match maker".

TIE LAST DROP: Rain was the raider at the R. & S. ranch last Saturday night when the Sheriff's Dept. gathered for a moonlight ride . . . rain-checks were also in order for the group that rented the pool that night.

All gathered back at Leonard Roblin's house for fun and frolic, but Vicky Wilton didn't miss her swim, she inadvertently took one in the Roblin's fish pond. . . . Mary Topercer (Mary's Restaurant) reminds me for referring to her establishment as a cafe. Honest, Mary, no harm meant, cafe is just another term for restaurant according to Mr. Webster. . . . there are a-group of men looking for some "jack" to invest in lumber . . . Roger Drijie must have taken the term "Got a Horse" literally, with the dissolving of his corporation recently.

GOVERNMENT NEEDS SENSE OF BALANCE

Should the State of Illinois spend $90,000 to study the diseases of race horses?

This is just one of a series of questions which face state government where the answer we reach is not vicious, but out of balance with the real needs.

My vote was against the $90,000 study—which has already passed the Senate and is now in the House.

It is a good example of many bills which we face. It is not an evil bill—as some occasionally are—which will do great damage to the state, but it is out of focus with the real needs and problems of the state.

The argument for it is that it is money which has come in from taxes on the tracks and that it is money set aside in the Agricultural Premium Fund.

What is ignored in this argument is that because money is raised from the race tracks it should still be used for the best possible purpose; and as to the Agricultural Premium Fund, the governor has the authority to transfer money from that to the general revenue fund any time he wants.

But, beyond this, what is not faced is some kind of priority of need in state government. With the passage of this measure we will lead the states in research on dis-cases of race horses. I am told by the University search hospital only "average" states in the amount of money we spend for research for human beings.

I would much prefer to reverse the priority.

What we as legislators too seldom ask ourselves—and what we are too seldom asked by our constituents—is the question: What is most important?

Let me give you two other examples:

Illinois is among the worst states in respect to care and treatment given to the mentally retarded. This is changing for the better slowly, but generally facilities for live stock at the state fair appear to be better than our facilities for the mentally retarded.

Illinois spends more in subsidies per race horse in our state than we do per child in our schools.

Many other examples could be mentioned, but perhaps these two serve the purpose.

The difficulties are two: First, legislators are overwhelmed with proposals for new laws. It is easy to get so involved with individual bills that the overall picture is missed. There will be more than 2,500 measures introduced this session. It be-

Your Governor Reports

by OTTO KERNER

Another major step forward in the field of welfare services has been taken by this administration with passage of legislation to create a new Department of Children and Family Services.

The new department will come into being next Jan. 1, to administer a broad program of welfare services in Illinois.

The services include child welfare, schools for deaf, blind, physically handicapped, and dependent children, and residential and rehabilitative services for adults.

At present, such services are under the jurisdiction of the Department of Mental Health and some 3,000 children are involved. When the new department becomes full-fledged within two years, the number of children served will be doubled.

The creation of the new department also means that these state services will be extended to children of non-veterans. Other features include sending trained homemakers into a home when a mother is incapacitated; offering family counseling services, and day care facilities under certain circumstances.

The administration supported this vital addition to our departmental structure. The specific proposals were hammered out by a legislative Commission on Services for Children created in 1961.

In 1961, we began the important task of restructuring our government to more adequately provide welfare services by securing legislation that created the new Department of Mental Health, which was born of the old Department of Public Welfare.

The legislative commission, after lengthy and detailed study, confirmed that children's services would operate better in a separate department. The legislation was approved by the General Assembly and signed into law by me last week.

an immediate conclusion on each of these local bowlers' responsibility higher score. The issues are in the heavy mail their responsibility is a long of the letter asking that Antioch more for the mentally challenged in the state. But I know that if a bill is introduced to change the regulations on duck hunting, there will be an avalanche of mail.
By this I don't mean to criticize duck hunters. But there can hardly be a comparison between the importance of these two subjects. And so long as the public takes little interest in the more basic problems government faces, to that degree legislative interest in these basic problems will continue to be less than what it should be.

Escaping Pressure

Two disillusioned heads of educational institutions were discussing what they would do if they had their lives to live over.
"I think I'd like to run an orphanage," said one. "No parents to contend with."
"I'd rather run a penitentiary," said the other. "No alumni pressure groups."

Phone Calls.....

Lines Division Plant Superintendent in Chicago, explained the installation this way:
The new transmission highway, capable of carrying thousands of simultaneous long distance calls, travels by way of the Lindenhurst relay station. The giant antennas beam superhigh-frequency radio waves, called microwaves, from tower to tower. Since radio waves weaken as they travel, relay points are spotted approximately 30 miles apart. At each station antennas gather in the energy and focus it into an equipment building nearby. There, complex electronic equipment "boosts" the signal strength a millionfold before sending the microwaves on to the next station in the chain.
A relay system of this type, when equipped to capacity, is divided into 24 radio channels. A pair of these channels, one in each direction of transmission, can carry up to 600 telephone conversations at a time. Four channels will go into operation initially.

build and is just as famous in its own right as a home for the aged as Mooseheart is a home for youngsters.

As the years have gone by, several homes have been built, such as Archives Hall, Illinois House, Pennsylvania Hall and many others through the cooperation of all lodges through the Moose domain. Later the famous Mooseheart House of God was built and in 1953 the new Mooseheart Junior and Senior High School cornerstone was laid. Today there are more than 1950 lodges of the Loyal Order of Moose situated in 49 states, Guam and the Dominion of Canada. There are also 166 Lodges of Moose in Great Britain.

Moosehaven was founded in 1922. Because there was a definite need for the care of some aged members of the fraternity, a dormitory was set up at Mooseheart to provide a home for several members. This idea took firm root and early in the year of 1922 an abandoned college campus was purchased in the village of Orange Park, Fla., and was given the name Moosehaven. Today, Moosehaven has been entirely rehome obligations.

Fit the Situation

Advertising copy should be written to fit the situation. If it takes long copy to put over the sales talk, use long copy. If it takes a negative approach then use it. Be careful. What works in one situation may flop in another. So choose carefully and always remember you use newspaper advertising to sell merchandise.

Mirha Hunter, Village Clerk Rolls Math and People

The Antioch entered started her 19th year as treasurer of the Antioch Chapter O.E.S. in April of 1963. Because of her conclusion on the records of the Village, she probably local bowlers about the town—its growth, the changes, higher scores, planning, as well as its people—than any are in perfect person. She says she probably knows the location of the bowlers' every person in Antioch. She may not recognize of the when she sees it. But she knows where they are. She's become familiar with them through the years that she sent out water bills. The water bills aren't part of her job any more. Clarence Shultz, village clerk, handles them now. She still pitches in and helps him occasionally, when he's swamped. And she takes over his duties when he goes on vacation.

The Village mails out 850 water bills every three months now—a big job in water fund. Martha's pay is determined by how much money she handles—she receives a percentage of the total budget.

Martha started her career as town treasurer when R. E. Murrie was Village Clerk; George Bartlett was Mayor, and the present Police Chief, Walter Scott, was a member of the Village Board. There have been two Village clerks since then—Laurel Powles and Clarence Shultz. Mrs. Hunter has served with three mayors, too—Bartlett, James McMillan and Cunningham. Personnel on the Village Board has changed many times—there is no one on the board who was there when she started keeping the records of the town's funds.

Martha was preceded in the office of village treasurer by Vera Reintner. At that time there was a law that village treasurer could not succeed herself. Fifty-eight votes were cast that year—1945. The law was changed in 1946, and Martha was re-elected in 1949, 1953 and 1957. The law was changed again and the position became appointive, rather than elective. Martha has been appointed yearly since 1959.

Martha says she's always enjoyed math, and said she enjoys her work as treasurer. But it's not just a job to her. She believes everyone should give some of his time to the government of his community. She believes children should be taught, in their government classes, that it's their duty to take an active part in their government.

Martha's not interested solely in figures. She loves people, and she's worked in various organizations throughout her life. At present, she's a second mother to hundreds of Rainbow Girls throughout the state, advising and helping them.

In her work as an officer of the Rainbow Girls and the Order of the Eastern Star, she's developed a rule for easing public appearances before groups which she impresses on the girls she guides. "Commit the ritual to memory and rehearse." Rules and rituals of the organization are quite lengthy and involved. She commits all of them to memory, and advises her girls to do the same. Martha does her memorizing while she's ironing. She's learned more while ironing, she says, than any other time. When helping young officials of the Rainbow prepare for ceremonies, she advises them on organizing and preparing for the event, then steps out and lets them take over.

Martha's pursued several lines of work throughout her married life, but she's always been busy. She thinks this may be one reason she and her family have a happy home with several generations living under one roof—something most moderns would feel was an impossibility. At present, four generations live together in the big family home—her mother, Mrs. Clara Buck; she and her husband, Elmer; her daughter, Mabel Lou Dow, and Mabel Lou's children. The Hunters' other two daughters—Jane and June, twins—have resided with them at various times. Mrs. Buck is 92 years old, and is still leading an active, social life.

Martha was married to Elmer Hunter on Dec. 23, 1925. She was a teacher at that time, and lived at Powers Lake, Wis. She taught in one-room country schools, the only teacher for eight grades, with attendance up to 52 children. At various times, she taught at Powers Lake, at the Elderwood school, and at the Pikefield school. In addition to her teaching duties, she prepared a hot dish for the children's lunch and was school janitor.

When Elmer Hunter opened a gas station at Quality & Main Sts. in Antioch in 1935, Martha helped out at the station. The Hunters ran the gas station until 1949, when they built their own garage and gas station on Route 173, where Mr. Hunter is still in business.

The Hunters have three daughters—no, four. Mabel Lou, twins Jane and June, are theirs by birth. Charlotte who lived with them eight years until her marriage, is as much a part of the family as the others. Parents contemplating adoption should have no fears that they won't love adopted children as much as their own, Mrs. Hunter says—they will.

The grandchildren are Mrs. Hunter's pride and joy, and she has pictures of all the attractive youngsters in her wallet. Mabel Lou has two boys and one girl; Jane Heuer, Placentia, California, has three boys; June Clark, Piedmont, New Jersey, has a boy and girl; and Charlotte Nash has four children.

Among some of her civic activities, Mrs. Hunter was president of the Antioch Grange School P.T.A. for two years; president of the County Council of the P.T.A.; a Past Matron of the Order of the Eastern Star; taught Sunday school at the Methodist Church for 20 years; was the only woman on the building committee of the church when Wesley Hall was built; will be a trustee of the Methodist Church from July 1, 1963; Mother Advisor of the Rainbow Girls from 1942-60, was General Chairman of that organization last year when the Rainbow Girls entertained girls from all over the world; has been General Chairman of Programs for the state for the Rainbow Girls since 1950, and is Chairman of the State Executive Committee of the Rainbow. A busy woman, Martha Hunter, warm-hearted, but practical; cheerful but business-like; busy, but never too busy to take time for people. At 82, Martha will probably still be busy, like her mother.

Mixed Doubles Tourney Rolls to Finish Sunday

The Antioch News bowling tournament is rolling to its conclusion on June 16th with local bowlers turning in even higher scores. The alleys are in perfect condition after their recent re-finishing, and bowlers are making good use of the fine condition.

Judi Murray and Tom Adams, who have held first place since the first week of the tournament with their 1271 series, were pushed down to second when Helen Barnes and George Schaefer rolled a 1277 last week. Helen repeated her high-scoring tactics last Sunday when she and Hank Kapell rolled a 1381. Helen rolled three 200-or-better games for the first time in her life for a 621 series, and Hank tossed in a 277, after a poor start, to score 606.

The mixed doubles tournament ends at midnight Sunday, June 16. There are trophies for first, second and third place winners, in addition to the cash prizes. There are still openings for this last week-end of bowling, to call the Antioch Bowl and make your reservation.

No Wins for Stillman as Rain Halts Stock Races

Eddie Stillman of Milwaukee, finally met his match Saturday night. Stillman, who has six straight features going back to last year, was beat out of a feature win by the weatherman when rain stopped the program after the sixth race was completed.

Stillman had been in two heat races but was not able to capture a single win as his heat finish was in the fourth race where he placed third.

Winner of the third race was Tom Schuster of Zion, who had been trouble for Stillman on May 25 in the feature. This time, though, Stillman was just able to get a third, and not too close, on second place winner, Bill Strom of Milwaukee.

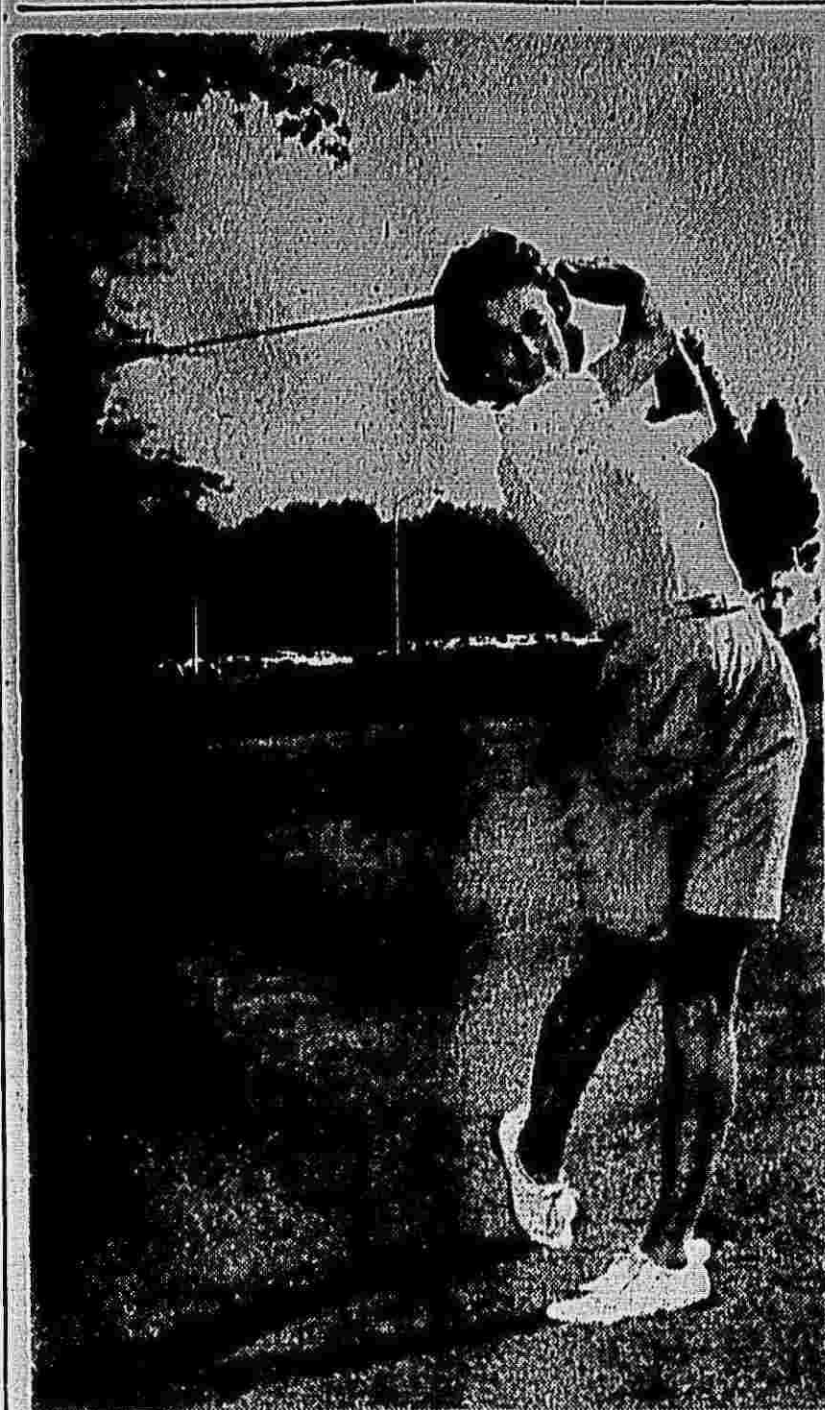

Bob Karry of Waukegan won a very exciting 10 lapper as he dogged after Swede Erickson of Gurnee for seven laps, with Fran Seamans and Rodger Otto of Burlington hanging right on his bumper. Going into the upper corner, Swede yielded to pressure and went high, letting Karry get through. Once out of the groove, Seamans also shot by and although it was close Karry took the checker first.

Bob Hoffman of Round Lake and Glenn Eichman of Waukegan were winners in the first two 10 lappers.

Fast time was set by Fran Seamans, who turned in the only qualifying lap in the 18 second bracket as he averaged 52.91 mph. This effort gave him 1st place money in the feature when the rain-shortened program ended.

The spectator car division drivers continued their slambang action as action unfolded in the first 10 lap race for fender cars. Harold Gurtche of Kenosha took the lead with his pole position and never gave it up. Several cars hit the fences but none rolled over, this time. In the next 10 lapper of these cars, two drivers traded cars to settle an argument about driver ability. Several cars were slammed and crashed, but the favorite and fastest driver, Dick Aissen of McHenry, who started in last position, came through all the wrecks, fence beaters to take the win. The two drivers who had switched cars had their argument settled as Rodger Hagie of Antioch, and Bill Owens, same city, wound up with Hagie in ahead of Owens.

Eddie Stillman of Milwaukee timed a 1963 Mercury Marauder that was put on the track for exhibition by the Hensley Mercury Dealers in Antioch. Fans gasped as Stillman came close to brushing the new car into the wall on his first circuit.

Due to the rain-out of the last three events of the night, there will be a 35 lap feature race next Saturday night.

Pro Match At Rockton

Local golf enthusiasts will have a chance to see Antioch's Judy Torluemke play when she tees off in the Macktown Open at the Macktown Country Club in Rockton, Ill., this Friday.

Judy will be one of the pro's competing in the tournament. It will open with a pro-am match on Thursday. Judy turned professional last year, at the age of 17.

Lumber Co. Leads Golf League

The Spring Valley Twilight golf league, entering its 4th week of competition, has changed its playing schedule to Thursday evenings instead of Tuesday. The change was caused by a conflict with another league playing at the Spring Valley Country Club.

After the third week, Antioch Lumber is holding down 1st place with 12-2 points followed by The Antioch News with 12 and Antioch Landscaping with 10.

Thomas of Bacon's Cheese Mart grabbed low medal honors by touring the front nine in 35. Thomas also had the low net score with 28. Signorelli and Pahlke came in with net scores of 34 each.

On the back nine it was John Roach with a 37 and Ray Duer with a 38 who grabbed low medal honors. The best net scores for the back nine were turned in by Ray Duer, 31, Ted Johnson, 31, and Ray Steffens with a 34.

The standings: Antioch Lumber 12-2, Antioch News 12, Antioch Landscaping 10, Bacon's Cheese 9-2, Wilmet Stage Stop 9-2, Walker's Barber 9, Paddock Lake 66, Spring Valley Tap 9, Spring Valley C. C. 8, Paddock Lake Lumber 7, Paddock Lake IGA 7, Decker's Tavern 5-12.

1963 Softball Season Starts

The 1963 softball season is under way at the Golfview park. It was learned this week, the schedule shows games for every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Teams sponsored by Hensley Motors, Gibbs and Jensen, Golfview, Lyons-Ryan Ford Sales and Pine Oaks will supply the action. Games are scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

BOATING WITH BOWMAN

BEWITCHED BOATS PER- FORM WEIRD CAPERS

By Hank Bowman
(Courtesy Sequoit Harbor)

Everyone knows boats don't grow on trees. Yet during a Florida Gold Coast Marathon race a competing boat well in the lead bounced off a wave, vaulted through the air and landed in the water. The air end of the boat landed his competitors pass by from a roost in the crotch of a tree.

A young couple bought a new station wagon, a thing of beauty with two-tone paint to match their outboard sports runabout. The odor of fresh upholstery still clinging to its interior when the husband returned from work to find the new car with hood dented and one side bashed in. He was hard put to believe his wife's explanation that the car had been kicked by a policeman's horse.

Then one afternoon the husband came back from a fishing junket in a taxi. He never teased his wife again about her altercation with a mounted minion of the law.

He and a pair of cronies had launched his boat, then parked the freshly repaired station wagon with trailer in tow alongside a bulkhead. Several hours later the fishing trio had returned to find car and trailer flat as a flounder underneath the bow of a submarine!

Weird boating accidents don't occur every day, but they do happen.

A Philadelphia doctor owned a twin-engine, 28' cabin cruiser of unique design. She was exceptionally fast and could beat anything her size until she hit an airplane!

A Piper Cub had made a crash landing on the river. The pilot escaped uninjured and the plane sank. No one was able to locate the plane until two weeks later when she suddenly bobbed to the surface in midchannel directly in the path of the doctor's cruiser.

An aluminum utility soared through a drug store window and slid to a stop at the feet of startled Coke drinkers at the soda fountain. Another cartopper nearly missed the cab of a truck and turned loose hundreds of chickens on a highway south of Norfolk, Va.

An unlimited class speedboat plummeted into the midst of a formal garden party at Seattle some years ago.

Most boating accidents, however, aren't such flukes. A surprising number occur on the highways. The bulk of these are caused by lack of normal precautions.

Trailer hitches should be carefully secured before getting underway. Never tow without a safety chain. Trailer hitches can rattle free or the hitch or trailer tongue tip can break. Safety chains should be secured well back from the hitch and fastened directly to a car's frame member or to a securing location and separate from the hitch itself. Keep trailer wheel lugs tightened and occasionally inspect springs. A loose spring shackle can allow spring leaves to shift.

If car-top racks are of the suction-cup type be sure the auxiliary straps are hooked securely to car top gutters. Last the boat to both the carrier and with safety lines to securing locations on the car. Remember that if an accident occurs to your boat you may not merely lose your boat, you may be responsible for damages. You'll feel more secure if you carry adequate liability insurance.

CAMP MA-KA-JA-WAN

A record number of 1434 boys have registered for Camp Ma-Ka-Ja-Wan this summer. The 1963 season opens on June 28.

There is still space available, according to Howard Franklin, chairman of the North Shore Area Council Camping Committee, in the 1st, 2nd and 4th periods.

Whats

Cookin'?

By Harry H. Stern

ONE OF THE CALAMITIES OF LIFE IS THE PERSON WHO NEVER HAS A DREAM EXCEPT WHEN HE'S ASLEEP.

Ain't it the Truth Dept.—As reported last week, Milt Brozik took it on the lam to escape Buddy Ed's scathing banter. Following the old axiom "so long as I'm here" he proceeded to catch him a big limit of luscious walleyes. If you've gotta walk around with red ears, there's nothing like fresh fried walleyes to make it bearable. With Knaedlekies yet.

A sentimental old gal visiting a college campus paused before a huge old tree. Waxing poetical, she said, "Oh wonderful elm! If you could speak, what would you say to me?" A wise guy senior within hearing piped: "It would most likely say, pardon me lady, I'm an oak."

Picturesque patter turns up in unusual places. Like for instance the other day in Charlie Haling's oasis, we were discussing the tests of single oxides and supported catalysts in a microcatalytic reactor as they applied to catalytic oxidation of hydrocarbons, when in walks this guy, wearing nothing but shoes and short, and broiled a lobster red on all the exposed epidermis. Pops Charlie: "tonight he'll sleep hanging from a hook."

So this paint and wall paper dealer, tired of making exchanges, put up a sign: "husbands, choosing colors must have a note from their wives." (Can you hang wall paper, Annie honey?)

Although navigation buoys are old stuff to most experienced outboard skippers, there are many newcomers and even a few old timers who still find them quite confusing. If your knowledge of buoys isn't what it should be this explanation from the Evinrude Boating News Service should help you to better understand them.

Buoys are used to mark channels as well as underwater obstructions, shoals, and other navigational hazards. The shape, color, number and the arrangement of stripes tell the story. Although some states and municipalities use different methods for marking inland waterways, most adhere quite closely to the standard system used on federal waters.

Fundamentally, there are four types of buoys in the federal system. They include nuns, cans, lighted buoys and sound buoys. Nuns: conical in shape, carry even numbers and are painted red. Cans are cylindrical, black and are marked with odd numbers. Long slender buoys, called spars, are sometimes used in place of nuns or cans. In this case, be guided by the color.

It's more important to remember the meaning of the colors rather than the shape of the buoys. Red buoys, always marked with even numbers, indicate the right side of the channel when entering from seaward. This means the buoy should be kept to the right of the boat. Black buoys marked with odd numbers show the left side of the channel. The numbers on buoys get bigger as you go further in from seaward.

Some buoys are equipped with lights and various sound devices to facilitate navigation at night or when visibility is poor. Lighted or sound buoys are painted either color depending upon their use. Descriptions of these buoys and other navigation aids for different sections of the country can be found in government publications entitled, "Light Lists." They can be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C.

Buoys marked with red and black horizontal stripes indicate a junction or obstruction in the channel. If the top stripe is red, the preferred channel is to port. If it is black, keep to starboard. Buoys with black and white vertical stripes are used to indicate the middle of a channel.

Learn to understand navigation buoys. Even if you do not encounter them on your favorite boating waters, chances are you will some day visit waterways where they are used. If you will just remember three words—red-right-keeping—you will have little difficulty in understanding the federal buoyage system. Always keep RED buoys to your RIGHT when RETURNING from seaward.

Take charge of the lights.

Velly Solly, Harry!
Written last week for "What's Cooking", the item printed below to accompany the picture of the happy fishermen, was inadvertently mislaid and hidden between Senator Simon's Sidelights and "Heart News Beats" and didn't turn up until too late to go on the sports page.

"The fishing Oscar (and Emmy) this week goes to Lake Marie. Like for instance, Ray Morgan of N. Hamilton Avenue, Chicago, took Rudy Palenik out fishing Monday, and—hot hum! they only landed nine king sized northerns, all around 32 and 33 inches long, the largest weighed 9½ pounds and the smallest, a mere 7. Golden Roaches (Sorenson's delight) did the trick.

"The northern in the Chain are on an unusual feeding spree right now and this is when the ambitious piscators should be piscating.

"One of the northerns had two hooks in his mouth which he took away from some unwary angler. At one time they had three fish on at the same time (and lost 'em all). They had over 40 strikes, and if Rudy only knew how to fish good, they would have had enough caught to put 'em behind the bars for at least ten years. That's how it goes—we all can't be experts."

(Harry said there was nothing he could do about it but slash his wrists, but cooler counsel prevailed, and he returned this week to tell the girls about the buoys. Yes-s-s—velly solly.)

Crashes, Rolls, At Speedway

Gordon Gorinan, Libertyville, won a spill-packed Modified stock car feature race at Waukegan Speedway Sunday night after being involved in a five-car crash on the starting lap. When the cars re-started, Gorinan was on the pole position and was never headed again for the remaining 24 laps. Ed Irving from Waukegan rolled completely; Bob Karry developed steering trouble; Jimmy Olet got crosswise in a corner; "Junior" Dodd lost a front wheel and Bob Norman was forced out with damage. During the race, Bay Darnell of Deerfield spun around twice on the track but was able to continue running. First six positions were: Gorinan, Schuster, Reimer, Heiden, Rozinski and Erickson. Time 7:15:63.

Tommy Dill of Zion won the Sportsman division feature ahead of Gino Wagner, Cudahy, and Dennis Borgan, Zion. Borgan and Wagner are in a head-to-head race for points so far in the 1963 season. "Kookie" Ketchum, after hitting several cars, dropped from the action. "Robbie" Robis, who got his car up on two wheels thru the Number 4 corner, straightened out but was out of the money.

Jim Sullivan won the semi-feature for Modifieds with Ron Larsen second and Ron Enderle third. Jim Petty of Zion hit the wall hard enough to put him out of action and Harold Wade of Waukegan spun into the infield.

Tommy Dill of Zion won the first event for Sportsman cars in 2:39:15 ahead of Jimmy Cossman and Dennis Borgan. Newland, Robis and Wagner got in a tangle at the start-finish line and Bob Huxford was forced to drop out with a blown engine. Next Saturday night, the new Waukegan Speedway "thrill track" opens after being postponed by the Saturday night windstorm.

SATURDAY NIGHT RACES SHORTENED BY RAIN

Len Kannie of Kenosha won the rain-shortened feature race for late-model stock cars at Waukegan Speedway Saturday night just before the 50-mile per hour winds hit the track and the customers fled for their automobiles.

Tommy Dill of Zion won the Trophy Dash for Sportsman cars followed across the line by Jim Cossman, Waukegan, and Jim Luther, Kenosha. This race was one of the most exciting in the Waukegan Speedway history with the first and second place cars crossing the line backwards. They tangled in the last ten feet before getting the checkered flag.

In the third heat, "Kookie" Ketchum, Crystal Lake, managed to hit every car in the pack at least once but went on to win the wild event. Ralph Simmons of Kenosha was second with Nick Dowd, Zion, in the third show.

In the late-model trophy dash, it was Len Kannie of Kenosha the winner, with Bob Dugan, Waukegan second, and Dan Kopshe, Milwaukee, third. The Sportsman feature race was not run due to the storm and next Saturday a double purse for the drivers in the Sportsman feature will insure plenty of action.

Plan Addition At St. Therese

A team of Antioch residents has been formed, headed by Mrs. Edward Abderhalden of 980 Main Street, to seek the support of people of the area for the Expansion Program of St. Therese Hospital, Waukegan. The hospital plans to add a four-story wing to the south end of the present hospital, and to expand its present 280-bed capacity by another 100 beds. Of these 70 will be medical and surgical beds, and the balance will be in a new psychiatric unit—the first in any general hospital in Lake County.

The new wing will contain 8 new Operating Suites, a new Clinical Laboratory and X-Ray Department, a greatly enlarged outpatient department, new Emergency Room, and other ancillary facilities to relieve overcrowding at the hospital, primarily brought about by the rapid growth of the area.

Serving with Mrs. Abderhalden on the Antioch area committee are: Mrs. Joseph W. Sternberg, 920 David St.; Mrs. August Costoff, Rte. 1, Cedar Crest, Lake Villa; Joan Dugenske, of 329 Hardin St.; Mrs. Edward C. Warner, of 581 Orchard St.; Mrs. Frederick J. Walpole, of 1037 Victoria St.; and Mrs. Edward C. Jacobs, of 416 Hardin St.

The Chicago Motor Club reminds motorists that basic fundamentals are vital to traffic safety. And one of the most basic of all driving principles is the rule of staying on the right side of the road.

Jaycees Urge That Krebiozen Be Tested

The Ill. Junior Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution recently in favor of a fair and impartial test of the amino lip-polysaccharide group of drugs, which include the drug known as Krebiozen.

The chamber stated in its resolution that the American public is entitled to a publication of the results of a fair and impartial test of Krebiozen and other drugs of this type.

Tom Miller, president of the South Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce which sponsored the resolution, stressed the importance of a fair and impartial test of the drugs by the U. S. Dept. of Public Health.

Miller further stated, "I urge every citizen to support this resolution by writing their Congressman or the U. S. Dept. of Public Health."

Farm Supply Co. Changes Hands

One of McHenry County's oldest farm machinery and supply businesses has changed ownership.

Bakkom & Co., of Woodstock, formerly owned by Byron W. McLeil, will operate as a division of Bradford H. Barber's B. D. & B. Company.

The Bakkom Co. was founded in 1928 by Einar Bakkom, and has served farmers with hardware, farm supplies and machinery.

A new company, Town & Country Lawn and Garden Shop is being formed to take over the Bakkom Co.'s activities in the lawn and garden equipment business. Emil Volz, longtime Bakkom employee, and Eugene Brown, employed by Barber, will be in charge of the Garden Shop.

The Key Club, once the exclusive property of the major metropolitan areas, is invading Suburbia and one of the first to make its appearance is "The Key, Inc." a plush new hideaway opening June 20 on Old Skokie Road, west of Waukegan.

The Key moves into the cook-out and crab grass sector with hopes of emulating the success of private key clubs which have flourished in Chicago, New York, Washington, San Francisco and other metropolitan areas and while the operators have borrowed from these operations the Key will have a few unique wrinkles of its own.

Not the least of the unique touches is the background of the two principal figures in the Key operations, both of whom hail from Zion, which was founded as a religious community and is more widely known for its once stringent "blue laws" than as a breeding place for night life entrepreneurs.

Ernie Henriksen, a stocky Zion auto dealer, does most of the talking and planning for the duo while soft-spoken Albert Schoeppe, who lists a Benton Township night spot and a liquor store among his interests, is more concerned with the details.

Among the items "borrowed" from other key clubs are the new club manager, and the assistant manager; both of whom broke in on the Key Club circuit with the Playboy Club in Chicago.

In direct charge of the Key operation will be Ron Serra, who served as assistant manager at the Playboy Club and also lists six years as assistant manager at Chicago's Union League Club and two years as a Maitre d' with the Hilton Hotel chain among his credentials.

The assistant manager post will be filled by Judy Lewis, a long-stemmed Oklahoma beauty, who is changing bunny raiment for the whiskers, pointed ears, and arching tail of a Kitten.

Miss Lewis, who was featured in the movie "Operation Bikini," is in charge of recruiting the hostesses, waitresses, and entertainers who will be known as Kittens and will also be in charge of their training.

Judy, whose dancing and singing abilities are a bonus accessory to her flamboyant blonde good looks, left her Tulsa home for Hollywood to make her mark in the movies, but had to return to Chicago to be discovered for her role in the movie.

Judy has enlisted a versatile Kitten Korpas to provide entertainment and to enhance the decor in the three handsome rooms that will be available to the Key members and guests.

The Kittens will sing and dance in the Roaring 20's Speakeasy, a nostalgic howl to the raucous years of the Noble Experiment, and in the New Year's Room where every night will be Carnival in Rio and Mardi Gras.

The handsome Chandelier Room, a contemporary oasis where guests will brace themselves for the other rooms, will also be enhanced by the presence of the Kittens.

A courteous act can make a friend. On the highway, a courteous act can save a life.

POUNDER THE QUESTION

There are lots of people selling something they refer to as advertising.

With costs as high as they are today it would be a wise thing for all advertisers to pause and consider just what they are buying.

One determining factor is circulation of the advertisement to be placed.

Circulation like canned salmon, has varying quantity and quality. It isn't circulation until it is actually delivered into the home, like your newspaper. Guess

The average cost of electricity for the Dwyers was computed by adding all their electric bills for the last year, Nov. 29, 1961, to Nov. 29, 1962, and dividing by 365 days. Naturally, costs vary according to the season and a family's living habits.

Little Bill reports:

The Ed Dwyers run these forty-one appliances for only
36¢ worth of electricity a day

Mailman Carl Jacobson stops on his appointed rounds to look on in amazement at the number of electrical helpers the Dwyer family owns—and who could blame him!

Actually, the Dwyers are fairly typical of all of us. They've been adding more electrical helpers to their household every year. And like most of us, they're using lots more (about 3 times as much) electricity today, but paying less for it per kilowatt hour.

One reason for this is the Power Grid System, which connects our power lines with companies in forty-three states. This system allows us to buy (or sell) power at advantageous rates, keeping down the price you pay. That's another reason why it costs so little to live better electrically today!

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council SHOTS

By C. Robert Gruver Editor, All About Babies

Mother (traditionally) are kind to their babies. In the matter of communicable diseases, there is kind without even knowing it.

Babies usually are born with immunity to communicable diseases, and they get that immunity from their mothers. The immunity is only good for about the first six months of the child's life. After that, baby is on his own.

But antibodies can become his allies even before the baby can walk. These antibodies frequently develop during a child's sickness. They also enter the picture through immunization—a method by which the body is stimulated to build the needed antibodies. There is a third way: injection of antibodies against a definite disease.

Immunization has been found to be the most effective attack on the more common communicable diseases of babyhood. So doctors have set up an immunization timetable.

The baby's first immunizations are against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. These usually begin when the child is one or two months of age, and three or four monthly inoculations are given. "Booster shots" are usually given a year or so later, although many doctors feel that in the case of whooping cough, such shots are not needed after the age of five. They do recommend continuance of anti-tetanus "boosters" at three to ten-year intervals.

Diseases that were monsters not so long ago, are gradually fading from the American scene. Inoculations have provided the answer in many cases.

For instance, there are the inoculations against polio. Many doctors recommend that polio shots be started at just about the time a baby is receiving other inoculations. Immunization against polio consists of a series of three inoculations. The second dose is given four to six weeks after the first. The third is given seven to twelve months later.

A "booster" dose is recommended about a year after completion of the series. A single vaccination against smallpox is usually given at five or six months of age, or at any time during a baby's first year. This vaccination is recommended every three to five years throughout life.

Disease monsters hover everywhere, and in many forms. In some areas the monster may be typhoid fever. In those areas, doctors may recommend inoculations against typhoid and paratyphoid every one or two years.

About four million babies are born in this country every year. They have an excellent life-expectancy because of immunization against communicable diseases of babyhood. That immunization has lowered the infant death rate dramatically. Man's lifespan continues to stretch.

My Neighbors

"By the way, dear, I meant to tell you there's been a raise in your pay envelope since the first of the year."

SAFETY HINTS from the Red Cross

Aching joints, and maybe heart prostration, will be the harvest for this energetic gaffer. Whenever you age, don't overdo the strenuous life when out in the open. Stay within your physical limitations.

THE "CONSUMERISTIC" ECONOMY

Did you ever hear of the "consumeristic economy?"

Your answer is probably not. But that phrase describes a major milestone in the development of the American economy as a whole. President Harry S. Truman of the American Meat Institute dealt with it in a recent speech. In this economy, he says, "There emerges two clear-cut requirements, the first is efficient low-cost operations, and the second is the necessity to produce the consumer acceptance." Then, specifically, he applies the principle to the meat industry: "I think the target for the livestock producer and the packer is the same, viz., to produce what the consumer wants and to do it as efficiently as possible. This is not really a new target. It is simply an old one set in dynamic, changing times." Mr. Davidson makes a basic point—that the goal is realistic only within the framework of a free and fully competitive market structure. And he provides, as evidence, a sentence from a United Press International dispatch which was sent over the wires in late January, Dated Rio de Janeiro, it said: "Beef appeared on butcher's shelves here for the first time in nearly a month when the government abandoned efforts to enforce a price ceiling on the meat."

Deck Spacing

Many women complain that deck boards are spaced too far apart, allowing their heels to catch in the cracks. Ideal spacing is to place an ordinary metal washer between the boards. This gives about an eighth inch spacing, which is adequate for water drainage.

President Kennedy has said, "We want a growing economy, and there can be no growth without investment that is inspired and financed by profit." Short Season If you hate cold weather, here is how to make the winter fly by much faster. Go to the bank the first cold spell and sign a 90 day note. You will be amazed how fast the winter will go by.

Most jobs are a cinch compared to housework, according to the Heart Council. A coal miner uses 4.3 calories per minute on the job, while a woman doing strenuous house work uses 6.6 calories per minute. To help the housewife conserve energy the Lake County Heart Council has available a free booklet titled "The Heart of the Home." Call or write the Lake County Heart Council, 1813 Washington St., Waukegan; CH 4-1210.
